

Tobago: Wind Dancer December 09-16, 2006

The “Unspoiled Caribbean:” Tobago offers the Caribbean’s most prolific and healthy reefs as well as mountainous volcanic underwater formations offering a kaleidoscope of color. From comfortable drop-offs teeming with life to ripping two-knot drift dives with huge marine life encounters, Tobago satisfies all levels of divers. Divers should not expect 150-foot visibility in Tobago. These nutrient-rich waters generally offer visibility of between 60 and 80 feet, excellent being sometimes 100 feet plus, but sometimes dropping to as little as 40 to 50 feet. What divers will find is some of the Caribbean’s healthiest reefs, huge sponges, the largest brain coral ever recorded in the Caribbean and an incredible variety of marine life – both big and small. In other words, divers should expect plenty of excitement!

Tobago Sunset on Wind Dancer

The charter for our dive trip to Tobago will be the Wind Dancer of Peter Hughes Diving's Dancer Fleet. I stayed on the Wind Dancer in January 2005 and dove with Peter Hughes, the owner and founder of Peter Hughes Diving. Peter Hughes grew up in Tobago and fulfilled a life long dream when he brought the Wind Dancer to offer dive charters in Tobago on the same reefs he grew up diving. My first hand experience on the Wind Dancer was all positive which is primary reason we are returning again to dive the prolific reefs of Tobago aboard this impressive ship. The diving is the best that I have seen in the Caribbean, the island of Tobago is full of "unspoiled" adventure and the Wind Dancer amenities and staff are first class. All of these reasons make our Tobago trip a must stop on your 2006 calendar

Frequently Asked Questions:

Why a Live-aboard? Live-aboard dive boats offer the best value because they offer an exclusive experience with all-inclusive packages. Land based dive operations normally offer limited dive packages and charge for extra dives. On the Wind Dancer, all dives are included as well as all meals, drinks and alcohol. Plus, live-aboard dive boats are the coolest way to dive: you cruise the shores of Tobago in luxury and style and then just board your dive tender when ready to dive!

Why the Wind Dancer? Peter Hughes Diving, Inc. represents "live-aboard excellence." We cruised on the Wind Dancer with Peter Hughes in Tobago in January 2005 and all aspects of the trip were impressive. The staff is exemplary and pampers their guests and the boat was setup perfect for live-aboard diving. First-class service is a trademark at Peter Hughes Diving, Inc.

Why signup now? Spots will fill up fast!!! Tobago is a unique location with a limited dive season. Mid December starts the prime diving season in Tobago and begins the holiday travel season back in the states. Divers will be looking to get away!!!

What's included? Package includes seven nights on board the Wind Dancer, all meals and beverages (including well brands of alcohol and Belikin beer), transfers from/to Tobago Airport, five and one-half days of diving up to five dives per day, other standard Dancer Fleet services and amenities. Port charges of $65 per person, and a fuel surcharge of $100 per person are included in the package price. Package price is based on the Deluxe Stateroom price on the Wind Dancer. Master Stateroom is available for an additional $200 per person. Unlimited Enriched Air/Nitrox air fills are available for $150 for the week.

What's not included? Airfare, departure tax, crew gratuities, rental equipment and on-land adventure excursions. Our group normally spends our Friday afternoon deco-stop on land touring the unspoiled island of Tobago. The option is available to spend a few extra days on land in Tobago to truly experience all that the island has to offer.

What's the “bottom line”? Dive package price per person: $1,750.00. Plus, airfare to Tobago runs $500-750 from major US cities. Discount group airfares may be available at a later date.
